DEDICATION

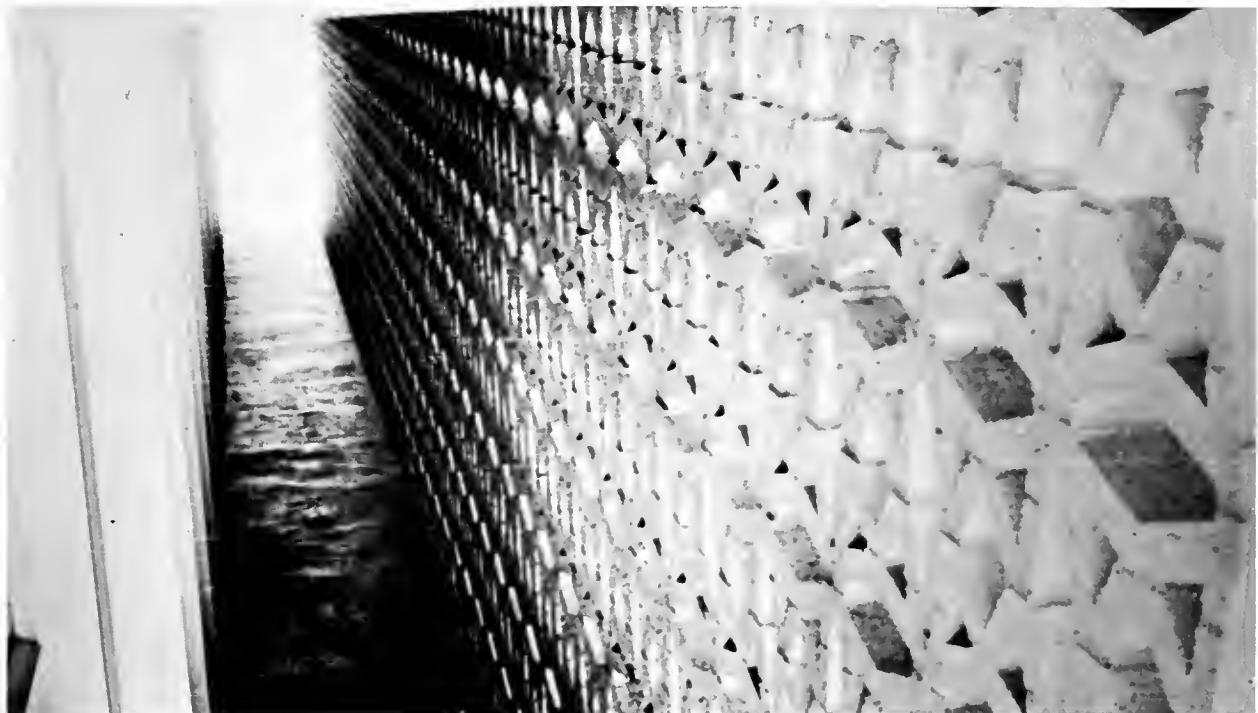

To Sister Rose Irma, a woman of high ideals who sets goals and objectives that seem impossible today, but with faith and trust in God and mankind, are possible in the future; a woman whose patience and courage in coping with the trials of a growing college have been an inspiration to all; a woman whose endurance and foresight have made this very campus a reality; a woman whose leadership and example have taught us, the students at the College of Great Falls, the meaning of a truly Christian and Catholic education; to her, we dedicate the 1964 CARITAS.

"...Education is the keystone in the arch of freedom and progress. No nation can rise higher than the standard of excellence set in its schools and colleges. Through education there is an increase of knowledge, skills, attitudes, and critical intelligence necessary for the preservation of our society..."

John Fitzgerald Kennedy

IN LUMINE TUO VIDEBIMUS LUMEN

"In Thy light we shall see Light" is the motto on the official seal of the College of Great Falls.

Great Falls
Genealogy Society

As a Christian Institution we are dedicated to seeking truth and knowledge. Our greatest source is He who Himself said, 'I am the Light.' It is through Him that there develops a deeper appreciation of those ideals which give meaning to life. In such a highly mechanized and fast moving world we need recourse to this very source of peace and happiness.

In their formative years here at the College of Great Falls, students begin to realize their innate powers of analysis, expression, and appreciation of "Truth" as opposed to falsity, wisdom as opposed to ignorance. It results in a flowering of the mind which inspires students to have a sense of responsibility to God and their fellowman.

If the human mind is to have calmness in crises recourse must be had to the power that prayer gives.

If the whole human is to mature, we must learn from the life and death of our leaders.

If the human heart is to have endurance in these fearful days of a troubled world.

recourse must be had to the accumulated knowledge imparted by instructors in classes and daily contact.

If the human character is to develop leadership, recourse must be had to the experience of participation in organizations and activities.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

Sister Rita of the Sacred Heart, President

Dear Graduates and Students:

This yearbook comes to you laden with thoughts and scenes of your life at the College of Great Falls. As you leaf through it, now and in the future, may its pages speak to you of happy times--profitable and inspiring times spent with friendly and high-principled people.

Your college life is a partnership. To this partnership you bring your talents, interest, curiosity, and determination. The administration and faculty bring their resources of study and research, their facilities, experience, and dedication. As a result of our partnership may you become outstanding citizens who recognize and accept their personal accountability to God, to society, and to themselves. Committed to Christian and American ideals, may you be competent spiritually, aesthetically, and socially, as you lead professional lives in keeping with your human dignity.

It is our hope that these memories of the thirty-second year of the service of the College to the Great Falls community and to the nation, and the fourth year on the new campus, will remind you of the concern of the College and of its benefactors to provide you with a Christian liberal education.

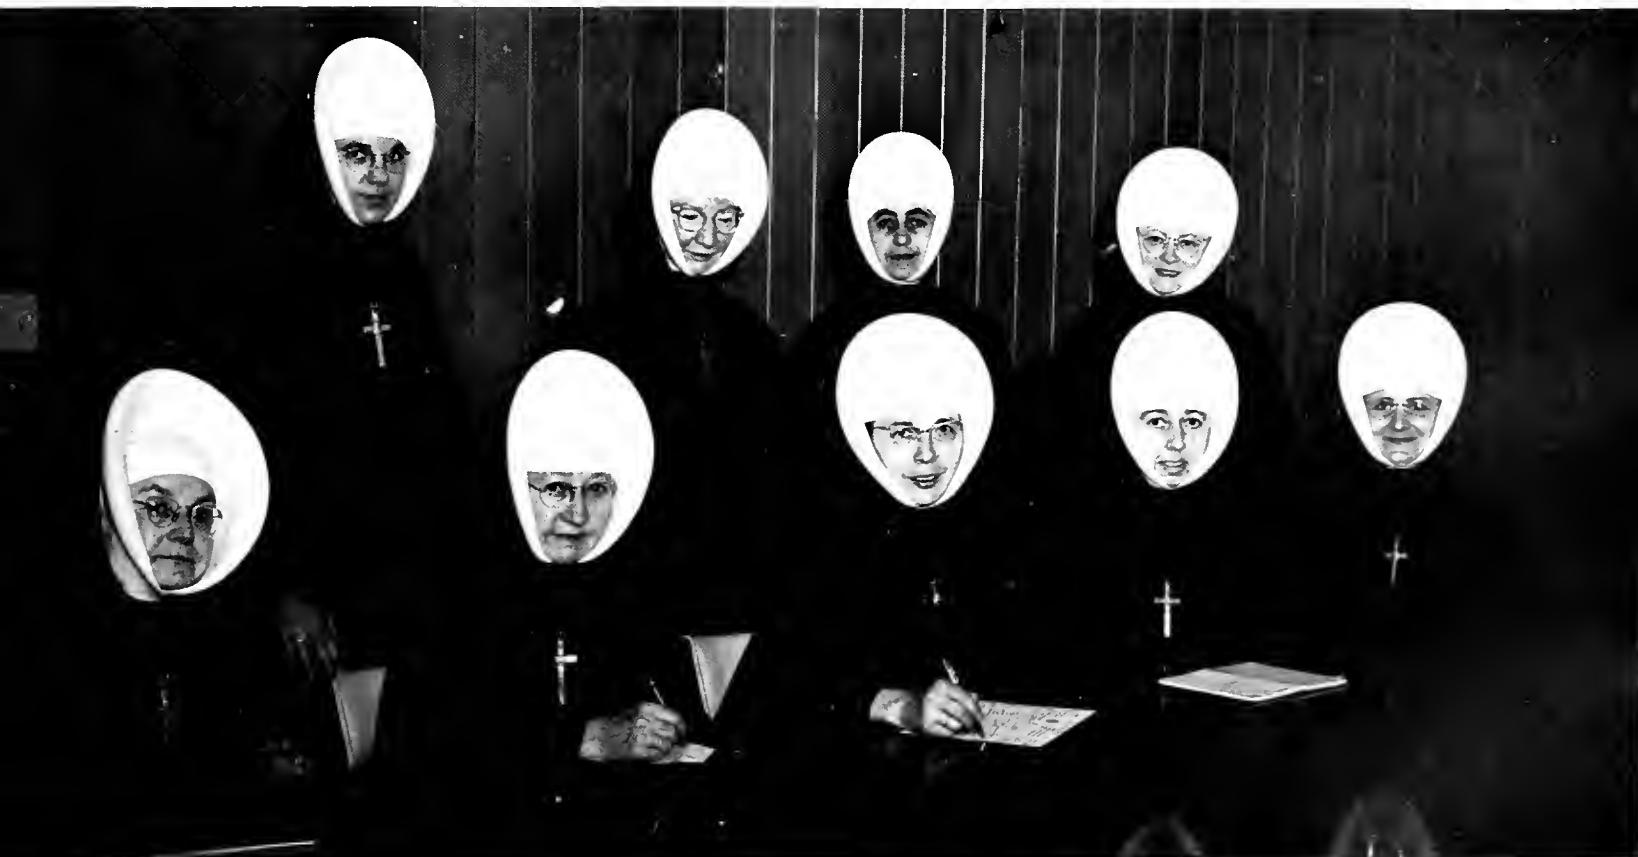

Our best wishes, our hopes, and our prayers are with you as you receive your degree or complete a year of study at the College. We congratulate you and we rejoice with you in your achievements. We look forward confidently to a future in which the intellectual and moral leadership among the men and women of this great country of ours will be strengthened and enriched by your contributions. May you communicate to all a balanced, serene perspective which sees all things in their proper relation to one another, and above all, to God.

Faithfully yours,

Sister Rita of the Sacred Heart
President, College of Great Falls

CLASS of 1964

It's almost over now. A few more good times, a few more classes, and a few more tests will end four years at the College of Great Falls. No senior leaves this campus without reflecting momentarily on the experiences which make it pleasantly unique. This graduating class of 1964 must now accept their new role as potential leaders of the world, channeling their wisdom, knowledge, and enthusiasm toward making it a better world.

No doubt there is but one thought in the mind of every senior as he revisits his CARITAS, the happy carefree college days of yesteryear.

If the Juniors noisily proclaim their relief, they have also quietly demonstrated the new maturity which they have acquired in their years here. Soon they will assume the many duties and privileges that accompany that maturity. Now they are beginning to realize what they will have to do, not only at the College of Great Falls, but also in the remainder of their lives. This is a feeling of expectation as well as of relief in the well known junior cry of, "Just one more year."

The aloof seniors may call them cocky and the harassed teachers may be forced to issue wholesale advice, but the sophomores, neither abashed nor subdued, charge on academically and otherwise with an energy and a drive that keeps the college going. Testing new words and experimenting with new ideas, the second year students seem to be able to take just about anything without breaking stride. Perhaps they have quite a bit of justification when they warn the world, "Just wait till we're seniors."

They have learned to live with the confusion and have eventually learned what is actually going on. Teachers ceased to be spies set on them by a suspicious administration. The profs finally begin to make sense to them. And, best of all, they have learned that the upperclassmen aren't really stuck up; they have merely gone through it themselves. However, the best expression of why they stay was probably given by the freshman who said, "Don't let my friends find out, but I'm beginning to like it here."

STUDENT SENATE

The Associated Students of the College of Great Falls is composed of officers elected by the student body, class officers, and representatives of various clubs and organizations on campus. It exists for the control of all matters of general student concern, the supervision of ASCGF affairs and activities, the approval of all actions taken by the committees and the individual organizations on affairs that concern the student body, the allocation of money to various clubs and organizations, the promotion of an intramural athletics program, the development of educational, cultural, and entertaining convocations, the planning and supervision of social activities of an all-campus nature, and the promotion of school development and public relations.

SENATE COMMITTEES

Serving as advisors to the Student Senate are Mr. Stevens and Mr. Foley.

RODEO CLUB

Each year the Rodeo Club sponsors a district O-Mok-See, a tournament composed of games involving skilled horsemanship. Here are Rodeo Club members interspersed among other contestants for the grand Entry which begins the O-Mok-See.

O-Mok-See games such as the pole relay and the barrel race demonstrate the co-operation necessary between horse and rider.

The cold winds of Montana did not discourage a good-sized crowd. CGF students, old-time cowpokes, and sisters all joined in the fun.

Rodeo Club members Karen Shea, Paula Barsotti, Bob Leicht, Wayne Martin (President), and Carol Ragland (Secretary-Treasurer), plan this year's activities.

RELIGIOUS

THE CONFRATERNITY OF CHRISTIAN DOCTRINE is concerned with the liability's sharing in the teaching apostolate of the Church. Lynn Dusenberry, Margie Rowell, James Godfrey, Kathie Mullaney, and Jean Graff are five of the group's catechism teachers.

Taking time out from teaching duties for a weekly luncheon meeting, members are here gathered around Don Brockland, president. Seated are Patsie Bartoletti, Jim Godfrey, John Fradet, Don Brockland, Kathie Mullaney, Karen Rose, Lynne Dusenberry and Rosetta Nault. Standing: Kamisha Samson, Eda-Jane Rose, Sue Jones, Linda Norsby, Sister Providencia, moderator, and Geraldine Kohut.

Sister Providencia, Father Keenan, and Mel Beam distribute clothing to Mount Royal children at St. Vincent Center.

An important part of the CGF school year is the All-Campus Retreat. This year's Retreat masters, Father Pacificus and Father Declan, here prove that they enjoy a good meal as much as anyone.

ORGANIZATIONS

Yvonne Nelson, booth decoration chairman, presides at the Sodality candle booth at the Christmas Tree Lane bazaar.

"And then there was this big, fierce dragon, Mel...."

CCD members (accompanied by Father Keenan on this trip) often find unsuspected bonuses - this one in the form of a youthful storyteller.

CONVOCATIONS

The Mountain States Telephone Chorus was featured in an October program. Songs from musicals such as "My Fair Lady", "Oklahoma", and "Porgy and Bess" plus several novelty numbers highlighted their performance.

Reverend Alan Keenan, English Franciscan friar, conducted a three-part seminar on "Human Relations and Communications" in January. Here, shown at a no-host luncheon honoring Father Keenan, are Mr. Floyd, Sister Rose Irma, Father Keenan, Father Fox, Sister Rita, Sister Katrina and Arlen Steubs.

Reverend Robert Tobin, a member of the Maryknoll Fathers, told CGF students in October that the idea of "helping people help themselves" is the key to successful programs of aid to individuals in needy nations. Father Tobin is a veteran of six years of mission activities in several sections of Peru, and has worked with Peace Corps and Papal Volunteer members there.

Reverend Doctor Cornelius J. Kelly from Carroll College chats with Reverend Doctor Robert J. Fox, CGF philosophy professor. Father Kelly discussed "A World Without Truth" during the St. Thomas Aquinas feast day program in March.

A multilingual concert harpist, Miss Susann McDonald played music spanning three centuries and two continents at an October convocation. Contemporary English composer David Watkins' "Fire Dance" concluded her program. This particular selection was written especially for Miss McDonald and was premiered by her in Paris last year.

Student body president Arlen Steubs and CGF chaplain Father Robert Hopkins escort the Most Reverend William J. Condon, D.D., Bishop of Great Falls, after his morning convocation discussion, "Reflections on the Vatican Council", in February.

"American-Europe: The Great Misunderstanding" was the theme of the first speaker in the series, Dr. Erik Ritter von Kuehnelt-Leddihn. Mrs. Walter Jensen, president of the CGF Guild, Sister Rita, CGF president and Mr. and Mrs. Gelissen welcome Mr. Leddihn at the Guild coffee hour in his honor.

Edward J. Kirchner, director of international relations for the Association for International Development and United Nations representative for Pax Romana confers with Sr. Norita and Miss Martineau, CGF co-chairmen for CIRCLE. His lectures dealt with "Communist, Democratic and Catholic Youth Activities" and "The Christian and His International Responsibility."

CONVOCATIONS

Pianist Soulima Stravinsky, son of Igor, is hosted after his formal evening concert in February by the CGF Guild. At this concert, he dedicated the new Steinway concert grand piano, a gift from the General Council of the Sister of Providence, marking the centenary of the order in Montana. Shown here are Mrs. Owen Floyd, Sister Rita, Mr. Iverson, and Mr. Stravinsky.

Part of the reception line after the evening concert is shown here. In the morning student convocation, Mr. Stravinsky discussed contemporary music, emphasizing that "the only way to keep our artistic sense alive is to be people of our own time."

Dr. Oliver Caldwell, associated commissioner and director of international education for the United States Office of Education, addresses Great Falls community members, including Sister Agnes Kathleen and mayor Marian Erdmann. "The Liberal Arts in a Revolutionary World" was the second program in the CIRCLE series.

The CGF project in international understanding, Contemporary International Realities Challenge Liberal Education (CIRCLE), conducted in cooperation with the American Association for Teacher Education, revolves around the fact that human nature is the same everywhere. As part of its program, CIRCLE sponsors a Distinguished Lecturer Series, the theme being "Human Nature - Key to Understanding in a Troubled World."

BOWLING TEAMS

We had a few "firsts" in our college bowling league this year. With an increase of interest in the sport, the league grew from six to ten teams, the most in the school's history. To accomodate this growth, our business was taken to Little's Lanes, a downtown bowling establishment. The league bowled on Saturday evenings with the regular season extending from September 28 to February 29. With the regular season ending in a tie, the Zephyrs defeated Doulas' team in a roll-off for the championship.

The champion ZEPHYRS - (back) Judy Neufeld, Dave Prescott, Diane Dignin. (front) Barry and Jerry Hutchison.

REFLECTING

As this year comes to a close, we reflect upon it as a wonderful experience. There have been many events that will live in our memories forever, some of them good---some of them not so good.

It is my sincere desire that you find your yearbook a focal point of the good memories at the College of Great Falls of Great Falls, Montana, showing you and your college in its true perspective.

With deep gratitude and sincere thanks, I wish to acknowledge the service above and beyond the call of duty to each member of the staff, and especially to the advisor, who wittingly stuck through it all.

Thank you for giving me the privilege and pleasure of editing the 1964 CARITAS. I hope you like it.

Sincerely,

Carolyn Robisch
1964 CARITAS Editor
